NATURE BOYS

LOGLINE

A master marijuana grower recruits an unlikely duo to guard the mother of all pot fields in the final days of a million-dollar harvest.

SYNOPSIS

Charley and Nick are buried. Working a South Jersey strip club/XXX bookstore, they want—no, need—to get out. Hope for escape comes from an unlikely source. They are led, blindfolded, into the deepest, darkest depths of the New Jersey Pine Barons. Taking off the blindfolds they are amazed to find—marijuana. The Mother of all pot fields! They agree to work for the master grower, who calls himself Ostrich Man.

Ostrich Man has enemies: Cole Ford, a psycho State Trooper nicknamed the "Jersey Devil." Tony 2-Tons, lower rung South Philly mob boss with a thing for liposuction. Also in the mix, Ostrich Man's ex-partner, Mohawk-wearing, NO2 gas-sucking Billy Buzzo. Billy knows the location of the fields. When Trooper Ford presses Tony 2-Tons, Tony presses Billy—betrayals and double-betrayals abound. All of them must wait for September, and the harvest of a lifetime.

Meanwhile, Charley and Nick learn the ways of the Pine Barons. They become woodsmen, guarding the intricate fields 24/7. By night comes another ritual: peace pipe smoking copious amounts of 12th generation Purple Indica—which doesn't hurt the bonding process with Ostrich Man. In time, they become close, a group of three people, but one purpose.

All is going to plan until a mystery ailment fells Ostrich Man, Nick is forced into town for medical supplies where he is discovered and tortured—"taken for a drag"—by Trooper Ford. With Billy Buzzo on the loose and Tony 2-Tons in cahoots, Ford calls out the State Troopers, all of them descending on the legendary fields of Ostrich Man.

With time running out, Charley nurses Nick back to health while Ostrich Man conceives a plan to save them. In the no-man's land of the New Jersey Pine Barons they come together—the Jersey Devil, Billy Buzzo, Tony 2-Tons and the Nature Boys...

A million bucks in kind buds ending up in the hands of...?